SOURCE MATERIAL FOR USE WITH QUESTION 7

7. Zahin is in business buying and selling electrical goods on credit. A draft statement of comprehensive income (trading and profit & loss account) was prepared on 31 March 2011, which showed a gross profit of £37 780.

Following the preparation of the draft statement, the following errors were found in the books:

- (i) Goods on sale or return £2 760 had been included in the revenue (sales). On 31 March 2011 the customer had not notified Zahin of the intention to purchase the goods. The goods had cost Zahin £1 900
- (ii) Goods with a cost price of £500 had been included in the stock-take at 31 March 2011 at the sales list price of £750
- (iii) The Purchases Day Book total of £5 000 for February had not been posted to the Purchases Account.

Required:

- (a) Explain the term suspense account, stating which of the items (i) to (iii) above would require an entry into the suspense account. (5)
- (b) Calculate the corrected gross profit for the year ended 31 March 2011. (7)

Further investigation revealed the following additional errors:

- (iv) The total of the discount received column in the Cash Book, £425, had been posted to the debit of the Discount Received Account
- (v) A purchase return, £950, to a creditor A. Milner, had been posted in error to the account of M. Mills
- (vi) Sundry expenses of £840 had been correctly entered in the Cash Book, but had been recorded in the Sundry Expenses Account as £480
- (vii) No depreciation had been charged in the year on fixtures and fittings costing £8 000 in 2008, which were subject to disposal on 31 December 2010. Zahin depreciates fixtures and fittings at the rate of 15% on cost using the straight line method. Depreciation is charged in proportion to the period of ownership in the year of disposal.

Required:

- (c) Prepare journal entries to correct the errors in (iv) to (vii) above. Narratives are not required. (8)
- (d) Show the effect of correcting each of the errors in (iv) to (vii) above on the net profit for the year ended 31 March 2011. Draw up a table and show each item separately, recording whether the correction would increase or decrease the net profit for the year, together with the value of the increase or decrease.

Where the correction would have no effect on the profit for the year you should state No Effect. (8)

- (e) Evaluate the use of a trial balance as assurance that the Ledger is accurate. (4)
